ELOQUENT EXTRACT.

When Logan, of Illinois, charged Virginia with being untrue to the Constitution, Senator Ransom, of North Carolina, answered in this eloquent extract, for which he receives the thanks of every Virginian:
"Virginia indifferent to the Constitution

while she holds in her bosom the memories of Madison and Marshall! The mother of Washington, Jefferson, Monroe, Tyler, Taylor, Scott Maury, Thomas, the thome for a jest, the subject for a taunt. When the senator or myself, or thousands like us shall have achieved for liberty and glory a shadow of what Virginia has, then a jeer or slur upon her great name may have some grace. Has the senator forgotton how much this nation owes to Virginia? He must for the moment have forgotten that she gave to the Union the States of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and Illiuois. Had the Senator reflected that his own State was one of the monuments of Virginia's patriotism these words could never have fallen from his lips. Nor, sir, are these a tithe of her contributions to the republic. She has borne seven Presidents, who, at the head of the government, have illustrated her devotion to liberty. She has nurtured on her breast the soldiers who have covered your arms with renown, the sailors who have brightened your flag with honor, the scholars who have extended the conquest of science from the bottom of the sea to the verge of the stars. Her trophies, her memories, her great names, her priceless virtues are before the world; they are the brightest jewels of the republic; they are the noblest heritages of humanity.

"I pray the day may never come when the great spirit at Mount Vernon shall not protect her from insult and avert her from error; her proud sorrows are sublime, and like her glories will be immortal. When she sheathed her sword and returned to the Union, her constancy to her national duties and her loyalty to her sister States were renewed with all their original vigor and truth. Her care for the constitution and her devotion to the rights of man had never slumbered. Great State! Whatever is grand and patriotic and excellent should be compared to thee. When thy name does not inspire the respect, excite the admiration and kindle the affections of American patriots, the love of liberty and of country will be ex piring in our hearts.

AFRICAN WEDDING. - In the interior, where there are many scattered villages, it is an important part in the missionary's work to itinerate, paying occasional visits to the more distant portions of his parish. On occasions like these, it happens that there are couples who are waiting to be joined in matrimony, and whose names have been "hung up," as the natives express the publishing of banns. No one in that country thinks of remaining unmarried. The ceremony is generally performed after a week-day service, when, instead of the heathen dress, with bodies lubricated with red other and grease, and heads anointed with a mixture of a black, shinning substance with butter, they dress after the European fashion, with their very best, for the occasion, and if they have not enough suitable clothing, they borrow from their neighbors. The groomsman and bridesmaid are not wanting.

The ceremony is generally performed in the public fold in the middle of the village, no house being large enough, as many at that season come from a distance to see, and to come in for a share of the feast. The ceremony over, they retire to eat a simple but abundant fare. There is no dancing, whether members or no members, but the time is passed in singing; and they do sing, possessing a wonderful facility in taking the different parts! Every hymn book is in requisition, and not a tune of which they know anything is untried. Nearly the whole range of the hymn book is gone over. while favorites are sung over and over again. The missionary's wagon, which is his castle and bed-room, stands generally not far from the scene; and not unfrequently respose and sleep are needed, after, it may be, miles of walking, visiting the outlying abodes of those who may be unable to attend the services of the day. While wishing sometimes that their music were behind a hill, or at some distance, he capnot find it in his heart to tell them to desist when they seem so happy.—"African Recol-lections," By the Rev. Dr. Moffat.

KISSING IN CHINA. - It is a singular fact that the custom of kissing is altogether unknown in China. The Chinese, indeed, have no word or term expressing love as we understand the tender passion. An American navy officer voyaging Chinaward parrates an amusing experience of the ignorance of the Chinese maidens of the science of kissing. Wishing to complete a conquest he had made of a young mei jin (beautiful lady,) he invited her-using the English words-to give him a kiss. Finding her comprehension of his request somewhat obscure, he suited the action to the word, and took a kiss. The girl ran away into another room thoroughly alarmed, exclaiming, "Terrible man eater ! I shall be devoured." But ina moment, finding herself uninjured by the salute, she returned to his side, saying, "I would like to learn more of your strange rite. Ke-e-es me!" He knew it wasn't right, but he kept on instructing her in the right of "ke-e-es me" natil she knew how to do it like a native Yankee girl; and, after all that, she suggested a second course by remarking, "Ke e-es me some moore seen jin, Mee lee kee!" (Anglio-American,) and the lesson went on until her mamma's voice rudely awakened them from their dream.

In Brittany there is said to prevail afcurious matrimonial custom. On certain fete days the young ladies appear in red petticoats, with white or yellow borders around them. The number denotes the portion the father is willing to give his daughter. Each white band, representing silver, betokens one hundred francs of renr; and each yellow band denotes gold, and stands for a thousand france a year. Thus a young farmer who sees a face that pleases him has only to glance at the trimmings of the petticoats to learn in an instant what amount accompanies the wearer.

Macon, Ga., and Philadelphia. The symptons of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general costive, sometimes alternating with lax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaint of have been done. Often complaint of weakness, debiity, and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the liver is generally the organ most involved. Nearly all diseases originate from Indigestion and Torpidity of the Liver, and relief is always anxiously sought after. If the Liver is regu-lated in its action, health is almost invariably secured Want of action in the Liver causes Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Chills, Dizainess, Sour Stomach, bad taste in the mouth, bilious attacks, palpitation of the heart, depression of spirits, or the blues, and a hundred other symptoms, for which SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is the best remedy that has ever been discovered.
